

INT. FITZGERALD HOME - DAY

Jenna charms Natalie as the rest of the girls watch.

JENNA

She always talked about you. Whenever one of your books would come out she'd buy a copy for everyone she knew.

NATALIE

I didn't know that. I didn't think she cared for my writing that much.

JENNA

She wanted all of us to know she was your sister.

NATALIE

Do you, any of you, know why Nicole would have gone to that old house?

JENNA

Nikki had been acting... I'm so sorry. I should have been a better friend and tried to find out what was wrong.

NATALIE

Jenna, no. You can't blame yourself. I'm sure she cherished your friendship.

Jenna takes a small pendant from her pocket. It sparkles in the light at the end of a fine silver chain. It is identical to the one Nicole was wearing at the Worth Manor.

JENNA

This was Nikki's. She let me wear it.

She places the chain around Natalie's neck and fastens it.

JENNA (CONT'D)

I know she would want you to have it.

Light reflects off a tiny mirror in the center of the locket.

Jenna smiles warmly at Natalie and then, very unexpectantly, embraces her. Natalie is stunned at first, and then awkwardly places her arms around Jenna.

Jenna nuzzles into Natalie's neck.

JENNA (CONT'D)

If there is anything I can do. Anything. I miss her so much.
